Me & My Motivations

If you're looking for a man who able to communicate and understand the clients, artists and developers too, It's me!

If you need a hardworker, professional workmate who's smiling a lot and straight, It's me!

If you have an open position which needs my knowledge that I collected in the past close to 20 years around the different design, development and team-leading/building areas, It's me

Do you want a loyally, balanced, professional and stylish member of your team and could you provide interesting tasks/challenges and respect him? It's me!

I'm a strong chain-link between the sales, marketing, costumers and the developement, production, somewhere on the half way between of an artist and a technical professional, who's interested in the newest technical widgets, technologies, solutions and the latest or classical designs of almost everithing.
